

Accelerate

An initiative aimed at students who want to start their ACCA qualification already during their studies. The programme combines academic education with international professional development standards, offering flexible entry conditions and support for further development in the areas of finance, accounting and audit.

What is the Accelerate programme?

The Accelerate programme enables registration with ACCA already during studies on special conditions, offering a simplified pathway to starting the ACCA qualification.

The programme is addressed to students of:

- undergraduate (Bachelor's) studies,
- graduate (Master's) studies,
- postgraduate studies.

Registration with ACCA during studies

Participants in the programme can:

- register with ACCA while still studying,
- obtain ACCA student status already at the academic stage,
- use the Accelerate programme based on confirmation from their university.

Exam exemptions and examinations

Within the programme it is possible to:

- obtain up to 7 exemptions from ACCA examinations (Applied Knowledge and Applied Skills),
- sit ACCA examinations already during studies,
- resign from selected exemptions in order to take exams and obtain the ACCA diploma faster.

Exemptions are granted automatically upon registration, in line with the study programme completed at the university.

Double qualification

The programme enables obtaining:

- a university diploma,
- the Advanced Diploma in Accounting and Business awarded by ACCA.

Requirements include:

- granted examination exemptions,
- passing the required examinations,
- completion of the Ethics and Professional Skills Module.

Important organisational information

- The programme applies exclusively to new registrations with ACCA.
- The offer does not apply to individuals already registered with ACCA.
- Programme conditions may vary depending on the university.
- Standard ACCA rules apply after the completion of the period of studies.
